Colombia Cannot Block

Intimations That Mr.

President in Favor of Big Dispute — Plague.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES:

WASHINGTON. Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Important developments in Panama Canal affairs were made this week. State Department officials and the Colombian Minister look for dispatches from Bogota by Tuesday, at the outside. Those communications will determine whether negotiations for completing the Hay-Concha treaty shall be abandoned or resumed. If Colombia's instructions to her minister constitute a refusal to continue negotiations the President can consider the matter in the Congress.

The resolutions regarding the California State Board of Health originated entirely with members of the conference of that organization. Surgeon-General Wyman is not a member of the organization, but received an invitation to be present, as an act of courtesy, in view of the close relations between the State boards and the public health service, provided for by the act of Congress, approved July 1, 1902.

The resolutions, regarding the California State Board of Health originated entirely with members of the conference, and were prepared by them, and printed and passed without any discussion.

No movement to quarantine the arrival of ships against California was suggested, on the part of the suggestion relating to the possible calling of another conference. No specific conferences are now being held, or have been held in Washington, to determine the action of the Federal government.

hopes of his desk. As a matter of fact, there is no reason why Gen. Miles' report should not be published full and free. Those who are in a position to know exactly what it contains, say that there is absolutely nothing in it that could give offense to Secretary Root in any way. The observations on the proposed army reorganization are mild and conservative, and also the comments on the women are in the same vein. It is said that when Gen. Miles' report comes out it will be found to contain nothing that will cause a stir.

THAT PLAGUE SITUATION.

GEN. WYMAN'S STATEMENT.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES:

WASHINGTON. Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Surgeon-General Wyman of the Marine Hospital Service, has issued the following statement regarding last Thursday's meeting of State boards of health at New Haven, and the relation of that meeting to the plague situation in San Francisco:

The national conference of State boards of health at New Haven, this week, will be the regular annual conference of that organization. Surgeon-General Wyman is not a member of the organization, but received an invitation to be present, as an act of courtesy, in view of the close relations between the State boards and the public health service, provided for by the act of Congress, approved July 1, 1902.

The resolutions, regarding the California State Board of Health originated entirely with members of the conference, and were prepared by them, and printed and passed without any discussion.

POWERFUL WARSHIPS.

WHAT UNCLE SAM WANTS.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES:

WASHINGTON. Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There are good indications that the President in his message to Congress will recommend the construction of very powerful warships instead of many smaller and less powerful ones. The President believes we should have more powerful fighting ships of the line. The President will devote considerable attention to the subject of increase of the navy in his message, and preparatory to the preparation of that paper he has called into consultation the officials of the Navy Department.

There is some talk at the Navy Department concerning the construction of scouting ships of very high speed and similar to the ones recently ordered by England.

ROOT-MILES DISPUTE.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES:

WASHINGTON. Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Several efforts have been made to revive the Root-Miles quarrel by the circulation of stories to the effect that the former is wilfully suppressing the annual report of the general commanding the army. It has been represented that before he sailed for Manila, Gen. Miles fired a parting shot at Sec. Root, and that in his report for the year some tart references to the Root plan for reorganizing the army, and also by adverse criticism on the army antecedents of Secy. Root, Gen. Corbin and others heartily favored.

It has been declared that Secretary Root thought the report was entirely too severe in tone to be given to publication, and that he had accordingly stowed it away in one of the pigeon

Costa Rican Peons on

Herschell Island People Dying.
Short-lived Mutiny.
Victoria Sealers.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—The known steamer Karnak, which arrived here today from Hamburg and Central American ports, rescued the crew of the steamer Kambyasse, which went ashore off the Costa Rican coast yesterday. In addition to this work, the officers and men of the Karnak fought off native natives of Costa Rica, who were bent on stealing the cargo of the Kambyasse, and with rifles and revolvers compelled the people to return through the surf without the rich loot. Officers of the Karnak report that, when at Puntarenas, three weeks ago, the Colombian rebel gunboat Padilla was patrolling the entrance to the harbor for the purpose of preventing the departure of the steamer Poas, an English-built vessel lately acquired by Costa Rica, and which is intended for the port of Panama, in conjunction with the steamer Poas. When the Karnak left, the Padilla was maintaining an effective blockade, with no prospect of the Poas getting to sea.

VICTORIA SEALING FLEET.

TEARS CATCH IN SMALLER.
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 2.—The Victoria seal catch will be smaller this year than ever. The average per schooner, based on the catches of the eleven schooners of the fourteen that have reported their catches, will be 425 skins, compared with an average of 437 for each of the twenty-four schooners which hunted the year previous, and 467 for the year before that. The total catch will be 5,577 skins in the Bering Sea. The stormy weather caused a great falling off in the catch this year. Sealing masters may say as many as ever, but the weather was too much against them. The cruise of the British Columbia coast last spring resulted in a catch of 3175 skins, half that of last season. The Copper Island and Juan Juan seals took about 1000. All told, the seal catch will be less than 10,000, the lowest catch for several years.

State Troopers and the caissons walked many marchers and scores of military officials, many of whom had served with Capt. McKinnon in the Philippines. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning. It will be military in character.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—A short-lived mutiny occurred today aboard the French bark Edmund Rostand. Four or five members of the crew who had been on shore all night drinking and carousing, returned to the ship after the avowed intention of killing Capt. Jules Marie Gouroultion was aboard ship when the drunken sailors arrived, and drew his revolver and drove them down upon the wharf. A crowd quickly gathered, but before the police arrived the belligerent sailors made their escape.

CHINATOWN FIRE.

GENERAL ALARM SOUNDED.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—A lively fire in Chinatown tonight at one time assumed such a dangerous aspect that a general alarm was sounded. It was in a three-story brick building on Washington, near Stockton street, in the midst of many inflammable structures. There were about a hundred Chinese and Japanese women in the place, and most of them escaped with difficulty. The greater portion of the place was occupied by stores. The loss is about $20,000.

The building was owned by Ly Leung, now with the Chinese Legation at Washington. C. J. Devine, a fireman, was severely hurt by a fall.

FRENCH TO CREATE NAVY FOR SPANIARDS.

FOUR HUNDRED MILLION PESETAS ITS ESTIMATED COST.

With Her Ports Impregnable and With Submarine Vessels at Gibraltar, Spain Could Do as She Liked—Talk of an Alliance With France.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

MADRID, Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An item of news will shortly come from the Ministry of Marine which will fully explain the rumors of an rapprochement between France and Spain. It is stated with authority that the whole explanation of the matter is to be found in the decision of the government to construct a modern fleet at a cost of 400,000,000 pesetas, which will be covered by a national loan. The fleet will consist of three or four small swift cruisers, double that number of destroyers, and a large tonnage of submarine vessels, so that each port shall have at least three of these new enemies of naval warfare.

France enters into the scheme through the fact that French models will be employed, and Spanish arsenals leased to a syndicate of foreign shipbuilders which will be chiefly controlled by French capital. It is estimated that it will take five years to complete the fleet.

Now, all this does not necessarily imply that a secret treaty of offense, or even of defense, has been arranged between France and Spain, but it is evident that France will officially aid her neighbor, south of the Pyrenees, to build a fleet which, while sufficient to the needs of Spain, might in case of hostilities between France and a third power, be utilized by the former to subdue Franco-Spanish relations, then warrant such a combination.

The principal objections raised by the Madrid press to a Franco-Spanish alliance are thus rendered nugatory. According to El Universo, such an alliance would place Spain among England's enemies, and in event of war between that empire and France, the peninsula would become the battle-ground. Now, however, with her ports impregnable and with the Straits of Gibraltar literally over the torpedoes of her submarine vessels, Spain could cast her lot where it would be to her ultimate advantage, or remain neutral, as her own interests might dictate.

It would probably never be known whether the Sagasta Cabinet had any international agreement in view, other than the purely business combination set forth in this letter. It is believed that until recently, the Madrid government actually hoped for a definite alliance with France. France certainly was much flattered by the obvious rapprochement. Evidently wiser counsels, inspired by the strong anti-alliance sentiment in Spain, it self finally prevailed, or possibly an obstacle arose in the direction of St. Petersburg.

MANILA, Nov. 2.—[By Manila Cable.] A portion of a gang of bandites which has been operating on the Island of Luzon (just north of the Island of Leyte) where they committed various outrages, has come to the Island of Leyte, last Wednesday, and entered a small town near Carigara. Here they captured and beheaded the president of the town, murdered his wife, whom they slashed with bows, and abducted the president's children. The motive of this crime is said to have been the president's friendliness with the Americans.

The bandites are again active in the provinces of Rizal and Bulacan, Luzon. Members of the native constabulary engaged the bandites twice during the past week at points close to Manila, killing a number of them. The constabulary are capable of suppressing these bandites.

Reports received here indicate that the situation on the Island of Samar is better than has been recently represented. A number of dios-dios, or religious fanatics, are still operating there, but officials report that the Samar police are able to handle the situation.

As it had been understood that the is becoming intolerable.

If it is reported that the terms of a negotiation are to be settled in October, it is to be expected that the Morgan and Speyer Bros., as contributors to the correspondence column of the London Standard, will follow up the "tube" debate in the House of Commons, Thursday night, by publishing an open letter in the London papers, disclaiming all responsibility for the defeat of the Morgan bills, and explaining that they had bought the United Tramway shares in the course of usual business, long before the rupture between the Morgans and the United Tramway management.

The Morgans replied through the Times, characterizing Speyer Bros.

explanation "as entirely incorrect," recounting the history of the Terkes company, and declaring that the Morgans have been purchased to do the namely, the sale of the Union Tramway stock until the moment the London United Bill was withdrawn by the Parliamentary committee, Octo-

At the Churches Yesterday.

New Church Lot.

A meeting conducted by J. Haydn Cooke in the Bethel Baptist Church at Twenty-fifth and Central avenue yesterday morning $150 was raised toward the purchase of a lot by the church. Last evening $300 more was added to the fund. The Cooke meetings have proven successful. Yesterday morning the ordinance of baptism was administered to twenty-five candidates, and thirty-five new members were added to the church. Rev. Edwin Fretz of the Haven Methodist Church offered water. The meetings will be continued every evening this week under the direction of J. Haydn Cooke and Rev. Christopher Mitchell.

Foundation of the Church.

At the First Christian Church yesterday morning Rev. A. C. Smither preached upon "The Foundation of the Unity" from the words of Jesus: "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church." He said, in part:

"This is one of the historic texts of Christianity. Upon its true interpretation depends the world's understanding of the true foundation of the church. Negatively it means that Jesus does not say that Peter was the foundation.

"It is hardly to be supposed that Jesus would find His church upon a fallible man and his among the weakest of all the apostles. The great truth of the text is contrary to such an interpretation.

"Peter translated, Peter, is in the original gender while the translated rock is in the feminine, clearly showing they can not be synonymous.

"Peter's name means a stone while the other means a ledge of rock. Such an interpretation spoils the rhetoric of the text. The great truth contained in the text is that the rock has lost much.

"Peter was its builder while Peter was its gatekeeper, being privy to first confessing Christ's sonship to the same thing. Furthermore, one word means a stone while the other means a ledge of rock. Such an interpretation spoils the rhetoric of the text. The great truth contained in the text is that the rock has lost much.

"There has arisen a loss of neighborhood, the sense of communal interest which recognizes the practical brotherhood of reaching from man to man and from nation to nation. In this city segregate by narrow interests and close personal relations. The city is the place of selfishness in intimate social conditions; in broad affairs it is the home of greatest benevolence. Life in the city brings out the world-wide relation and in this there are many benefits. As in the social conditions, so the change of thought has brought men into political relations.

"Today nations overran nations in reaching out through violent conquests. The day has past when the United States could say 'We are sufficient unto ourselves and we are not concerned with what other nations do.'

"The time and conditions of national growth have changed. With this change has come about the conviction that the rulers of the nations have moral as well as political duties to perform toward their own people, and in reciprocal relations with other nations. This is the principle upon which the enduring foundation of national government lies in the righteous motive and act. This sense of moral obligation is spreading throughout the world. We are becoming more familiar with the "ought" and "expedition" of the duties which men owe to one another without regard to local limitations.

"We are hearing a new gospel of wealth from the men who are possessed of great riches, and who practice what they call "charity." This has led to increased zeal for truth, truth of every sort. Men are less bound by the dogmas of past days, whether they be dogmas of science, theosophy or religion. The character of thought has wrought many difficulties and many hardships, but in the larger aspect has wrought inestimable good for man in its influence upon the world.

"Newbury did not die within a stone's throw of his hut without resistance. The old revolver was loaded except for one empty cartridge.

come upon His faithful followers have made large chapters in the history of the world. He informed His disciples that this planet would come to an end; but He declared that only God knew the time of its coming. He also declared that the earth would be burned up; and slow, plodding science has lately come to the same conclusion. He told the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well that in due hour, come not in Jerusalem, shall ye worship the Father." Mohammedans now own and worship in those two places.

The future of our planet was clearly seen by the Master. Many of His prophecies have been fulfilled, but the time for the fulfillment of others has not yet come. When that time does come, they, too, will be fulfilled. His prophecies about the unseen world will have a glorious fulfillment some day.

Change in Thought.

Rev. J. C. K. Jones preached yesterday morning in the Church of the Unity on "Change in Thought." He said in part:

"This is one of the historic texts of Christianity. Upon its true interpretation depends the world's understanding of the true foundation of the church. Negatively it means that Jesus does not say that Peter was the foundation.

"Newbury did not die within a stone's throw of his hut without resistance. The old revolver was loaded except for one empty cartridge.

Just how or why Newbury was killed is not known accurately. "Jim" told his story to several persons; gave up the rifle to a neighbor, a boy, and said that he was returning to the Police Station. "Jim" is an old chink; he has cut his wisdom teeth; he skipped out, and the police are looking for him.

"Jim" said that he and Newbury quarreled in the morning. The city dumping grounds are large and the cans are thick. It may have been the bullet disputed for the possession of a choice bit of crooked which some careless housewife had thrown into the garbage barrel. The dumping ground is rich in things that a discriminating searcher might value. There was sufficient ground for a quarrel—five acres of it.

"They quarreled in the morning, according to "Jim," it was probably a chapter in their long quarrel, the last told to several persons; gave up the rifle to a neighbor, a boy, and said that he was returning to the Police Station. "Jim" is an old chink; he has cut his wisdom teeth; he skipped out, and the police are looking for him.

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES regularly pays to its skilled, reliable and acceptable workmen wages that average from $3.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5 per day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing newspaper; and another advance has recently been agreed upon. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in all the Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1890, and the end of September, 1891, aggregated $10,000,000, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled and unskilled, now average more than $175,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these specific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. Not for years has THE TIMES had any trouble with its workmen, who are independent of unions, loyal to their employers and themselves, well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with that control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy has proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicuous ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals.

H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.

Since no attempt whatever has ever been made in any quarter to refute, or even dispute, the accuracy of the foregoing authoritative statement, our defeated malignants are estopped; and the public is amply warranted in giving no credence to contemporary hostile assaults upon THE TIMES management in the matter of its relations to its workmen, or vice versa. Falsehood must yield to truth.

ELECTION EXTRA.

The regular edition of THE TIMES Wednesday morning will contain as complete election return as it is possible to obtain at that hour, from city, State and nation. An extra, giving fuller compilation and reports of great interest, will be issued at 6:30 a.m.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD.

The triumph of one political party or another, in the election to be held tomorrow, is not the principal issue of the campaign. There should be no confusion of ideas on this subject. The paramount consideration, at all times, must necessarily be the preservation of public peace and tranquillity, and the maintenance of industrial prosperity.

The substantial, conservative business men of California should look this issue squarely in the face. They should decide for themselves, in the light of their better judgment, whether the election of Dr. Pardee or of Mr. Lane, and of the tickets headed by them, respectively, will best tend to the accomplishment of this desirable end. Having determined the matter to their satisfaction, the business men of California should cast their ballots at tomorrow's election in accordance with their sincere and honest convictions.

The present campaign has in effect resolved itself into a business proposition. It is, in point of fact, a question as to whether the present, public-spirited and unprejudiced business prosperity—the direct outcome of Republican national policies and methods—shall continue, or whether we shall turn our backs upon all the good results which have been accomplished, and enter upon a season of experimentation in the line of Democratic theorizing, which has proved so disastrous in the past.

Stripped of all minor and subsidiary consideration, this is the principal and paramount issue of the campaign which is just closing. Clear-sighted, level-headed men cannot fail to recognize this fact, irrespective of party alliances or sympathies. And, recognizing the situation as it exists, there should be no hesitancy on the part of conservative and patriotic citizens, whether they be Democrats or Republicans, in casting their ballots for the good of the public, for the upholding of law, for the preservation and protection of individual and corporate rights, for the maintenance of domestic tranquillity, and for the continuance of business conditions which make general prosperity possible.

This is the whole situation, succinctly stated. The solid, substantial, conservative business men of California are confronted by a serious and imperative duty. They may not rightfully hesitate in the presence of this duty. With them rests the balance of power. If they see fit to act unitedly, they may rescue the State from the possibility of going wrong in tomorrow's crisis. If, on the other hand, they are apathetic—if they failed to do their full duty, as the polls—they will have only themselves to blame if the State should be carried by those whose platforms, policies and methods are opposed to the conditions which make for, and are essential to, prosperity and progress.

To any unprejudiced man who has given the matter careful consideration, it must be overwhelmingly apparent that the election of George C. Pardee and the entire Republican State ticket is necessary to the continuation of the conditions of peace, prosperity and progress in California. We cannot afford, at this critical time, to put our State outside of the Republican column. Not only in a purely political sense is this true; but it is impressively true from a business point of view. The Republican ticket undeniably stands for sound business principles and continued prosperity. The ticket of our opponents as surely stands for industrial and commercial uncertainty; for it represents principles thus lay a laurel wreath of remembrance upon the tomb of "Our Steve." It is a life-size bronze statue that is to be erected.

If there is a man in the United States who should support the men and principles of the Republican party, it is the man who works for day wages. For it is that party which has given men work, where before there was no such thing as places to work. It is that party which rescued the country from bankruptcy and disaster, and placed it in the very forefront of the nations of the world in all the elements of prosperity and advancement. It is that party which filled the dinner pails of the country with plenty. It is that party which restored a surplus to the national treasury, and wiped out the deficit made by Democratic maladministration. It is that party which fought the war with Spain, in so far as management and administration is concerned, to a glorious conclusion, and it is that party which will continue to keep the land of the Flag of Stars where it belongs—on the upward and onward march to still greater glories for the good of all men who live under the sign of the free.

While it may be counted as a fact that money talks, it is not of record that talking about money is what talks. The blurb that has been put up by the Democrats of California regarding the betting on the forthcoming election fools nobody, unless it be some few ignorant Democrats, who will be made to lose wages through the spouting of hot air, that has been so prevalent during the past few days. The Democrat who puts up money on Lane, expecting to win it, will be bounced; and it will be the hot-air artiste of his own party who will be to blame if he does. There isn't a sign in the sky as big as a grain of mustard seed indicating that Lane can be elected. On the contrary, there are rolling clouds of smoke that Pardee will win by one of the biggest votes ever given a candidate in California on an off year. Beware the soul who would advise you to bet on Lane.

The government ought to take hold of that plague matter in San Francisco, and settle it once and for all. The proceedings already had are not only disgusting to the people of this State, but they are likely to do us infinite damage. That there have been cases of the plague in the metropolis no one now questions who has the sense to give a guess; such being the case, it is the manifest duty of the governmental authorities to proceed with all due diligence to meet the situation according to its deserts. Let us have no more tomfoolery about this most pressing and important matter.

The government ought to take hold of old man Uribe-Urabe for the moment, and attend to a little fight of our own.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1902.

WAYLAID BY THREE THUGS.Pocketknives Poked in Victim's Back.Attempt by Amateurs to Rob Laborer.Holding Travelers Up Seems to be a Despicable Los Angeles Craze.

W. D. McFarlane, a laborer, living at No. 4241 Amelia street, was waylaid near the corner of Turner and Amelia streets at 10:30 o'clock last night by three men bent on robbery. They did not command him to hold up his hands; they jumped on him without uttering a sound and stabbed him in the back.

Had their control of their knives been better, McFarlane wouldn't have been alive to tell the story. He received four stabs from behind, one just below the right ear, another at the base of the neck near the spine, and two others lower down in line with the other two.

None of the cuts is more than half an inch deep, but the blood that flowed from them made McFarlane a shocking sight.

McFarlane was on his way home from a Socialist meeting at No. 107½ North Main street.

He had reached the corner of Turner and Amelia streets without meeting anyone. This place is midway between two street lamps, and two blocks from McFarlane's home.

He is nearsighted, and it was quite dark. If his waiting assailants had been visible to an ordinary eye, he would likely not have seen them.

"Before I had any intimation that anything was wrong, and saw him as he gave me an account of the assault while lying on the operating table in the Receiving Hospital, 'someone poked me in the back with a knife. I turned to grapple with him, and saw three men. Then they were off, stabbing me and cutting my watch.'

I broke away from them and ran and they followed me for 100 yards or so, and then they gave up the chase."

"I turned on the next street outside the fastness of law. He was a white man and rather tall. I couldn't even tell the nationality of the other two."

After the men had given up the pursuit, McFarlane, fainting from loss of blood, ran into the First Aid Cabin, and an old German who lives in that vicinity, and told him the story. The Police Station was immediately notified and officers on the beat were given the manager's description furnished by McFarlane.

A trio that might have been the three hoodlums, highwaymen was seen running around the corner at Commercial and Alameda streets about five minutes after the attack had ended. As was neither side scored. Eldridge Green is manager of the side.

The excursion to Mt. Lowe was given up the pursuit, and the men were given a sum of money to help them get home.

The wounds in McFarlane's back were made by pocketknives, and their wielders must have been novices for all the cuts are glancing.

MURPHY'S MEETING.

Temperance Apostle Interests Large Audience at Blanchard Hall—World-wide Temperance Movement.

The fifth of the series of Sunday night temperance meetings was held by Francis Murphy, last night, in Blanchard's Hall, where he preached the gospel of the helping hand.

A large audience greeted the well-known apostle of temperance.

A violin solo was played by Mrs. Lyons and Charles Lamb sang a solo.

The congregational singing went with a spirit and enthusiasm, and after several songs Mr. Murphy spoke on "The Good Samaritan."

His illustrations offered on all sides for people to emulate the work of the good Samaritan, and lend a helping hand to the victim of strong drink were portrayed in vivid style, and at the close of the address more than a score of people signed the pledge and donned the blue ribbon.

Mr. Murphy presented the plans for the world-wide temperance movement, which is to be inaugurated on Sunday, November 25, in all civilized countries.

It is a concerted temperance-pledge movement, irrespective of churches or creeds, and is warmly supported in England, Scotland, Ireland, and the United States.

An effort will be made by Mr. Murphy this week to interest the clergy of Los Angeles in a grand union mass meeting for the 23rd inst., to take up the work here.

The regular Sunday night meetings will continue during the winter at Blanchard's Hall.

H. JEVNESOUPS---ALL MADE.

To our notion it takes a mighty good cook to make a soup and these canned soups are ready to serve with heating. They are made according to the best principles of souping—cooked a long time, which is always necessary to make the best soups, and few housekeepers have the time to give. With a can of this soup in the house you can serve the most delicious soup on a moment's notice. All kinds. Quart and pint cans.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Good-By Jocks.

The benefit for the mine workers packed the Los Angeles Theater last evening. It is stated by the managers that the net proceeds are about $1200.

Tincher Woods.

Five outdoor preachers were holding forth at once on Los Angeles street yesterday morning, while an anarchist meeting was going on near by in the open.

Election Beta.

There has been an unprecedented amount of gambling on the election—surpassing that of the last Presidential campaign. Spring-street book-makers say there is $150,000 up in the city.

Pastor Smale Says "No."

A report has been current that Pastor Smale of the First Baptist Church proposed to sell his church to the community and start a new church of his own, a la Dowler; but Mr. Smale declares there is not a scintilla of truth in it.

Down Come Derricks.

The movement for removing the old oil derricks is marching out First street. Two derricks have recently been taken down, and others will follow. The lumber from one is going into a cottage.

Busy Clerks.

The County Clerk's men have had the stunt of their lives preparing for Tuesday's election and have had to work night and day to get out the work. There are fifty-one different tickets on the ballot.

Election Extra.

The regular edition of The Times Wednesday morning will contain as complete election returns as it is possible to obtain at that hour, from city, State and nation. An extra, giving fuller compilations and reports of interest, will be issued at 6:30 a.m.

Both Israel Officials.

Cooperation Both Israel has elected the following board of officers for the ensuing year: President, B. Forer; vice-president, L. Leavitt; secretary, C. D. Hoffman; treasurer, A. Morris; treasurer, L. Goldfarb; Charles Deutch, T. Lipin, J. Borodoff, S. Karp, M. Gruga; reader of scroll, Abraham Shulman; sexton, J. Frenzenberg.

To Save His Horse.

In order to save his horse from the flames, J. E. Horr, who lives in a barn in the rear of No. 231 East Seventh street, almost sacrificed his life yesterday evening. The horses were rescued, but Horr was badly burned on the hands, face and upper part of the body. The barn is used as a storeroom for oil cans some of which contained kerosene. Shortly before 6 o'clock fire, the origin of which is unknown, broke out in the barn. A can of oil exploded, and the building was caught in the flames. Horr, who had been after the fire started, was in his horse. He seized the frightened animal and dragged it out, but not until the fire was on him. The building and all its contents, valued at $500, were destroyed.

BREVITIES.

MAPLE AVENUE CARS THROUGH TO EASTLAKE.

NEW COACHES SOON READY FOR SECOND STREET.

Superintendent Akin Will Not State Positively That Modern Cars Now Arriving Will Be Placed on Grand-avenue Line—Ninth Street First.

Within a week or ten days the cars of the Maple-avenue line of the Los Angeles Railway Company will run straight through to Eastlake Park. Statement to this effect was made yesterday by Superintendent John Akin. The old Ninth street line, which starts from the Temple block, has just been double-tracked the entire distance out, and the old service will be superseded by a through service from the end of the Maple-avenue line, with a nine-minute service.

Superintendent Akin also stated that new cars are being constructed, or rather old cars reconstructed, for service on the Second-avenue line. They will be of the composite type, with both open-air and closed seats, double trucks, and modern appurtenances. One of the cars is practically ready for trial, and if it proves a success over the hill route a new service is promised at which patrons will no longer have to transfer.

Whether the old cars of the Grand-avenue line are to be replaced by the fine new cars now arriving from the East seems to be somewhat doubtful yet, though this was promised some time ago. Mr. Akin said he could not state positively that they would be put on Grand avenue, but announced that West Ninth would be provided with them first. Five have arrived and twenty-five are expected immediately.

William Horton Shot by P. S. Wilson.

Shooter in Jail and Victim Expected to Die—Talk of Lynching.

FILLMORE, Nov. 2.—Whisky was the cause of a shooting scene in this town this afternoon which will probably result in the death of William Horton, and the trial of P. S. Wilson on the charge of murder.

Horton is a rancher, about 35 years of age, living about two miles from Fillmore. Wilson is a tree-pruner, aged about 45, and his home is at Seavey. The two men were in a saloon in this village this afternoon, and both of them are said to have been drinking. They quarreled and came out of the saloon about 4 o'clock in fighting mood.

Upon reaching the street, Wilson drew a revolver and fired twice at Horton, one shot going wide of its mark, but the other entering Horton's breast, a little above the heart. Before Wilson could escape, he was seized and disarmed by bystanders, who turned him over to the authorities. A few of the hoodlums of the community got together and talked of organizing a lynching party, but their courage failed, or better counsel prevailed, and the offenders were allowed to proceed, unmolested, with the trial till Monday.

Horton was lodged in jail pending the outcome of Horton's injury.

Dr. Mott of Santa Paula and Hinckley of Ventura were hastily summoned, but the former found the man mortally wounded, and were successful in finding the bullet, which was extracted. The wounded man is in a very critical condition, however, and is not expected to recover. He survives till morning, and can stand the trial till he is removed to the hospital at Ventura.

Horton is a single man, but Wilson is said to have a family. The exact nature of the shooting cannot not be ascertained. It is said that he has existed between the men for some time, and whisky brought it to the surface.

The whole town is wildly excited over the tragedy, and the bloody affair may result in doing away with the open saloon on Sunday in Fillmore.
